AIM AND SCOPE OF THE JOURNAL

This journal is set to advance scholarship in all areas of political science and related disciplines. Properly researched articles, that are not presented elsewhere are to be accepted for publication in the journal. Topical issues that are of national and global interest from the political science perspectives are part of the set aims of the journal.

The scope of the journal is universal, accepting contributions from all parts of the world, and the journal is published quarterly. In our bid to be on top of emerging developments and actively contributing to knowledge we call for papers without restricting the call to Political Science discipline alone.

All the articles submitted are subjected to double reviews external and internal reviewers are engaged using standard guidelines in assessing the papers.
